Junior Auxiliaries install new officers

*Mrs. John Rosetti
elected president*

Mrs. John Rosetti was installed as president of the Bay-Waveland Junior Auxiliary at a luncheon held Thursday at Diamondhead Country Club.

Others taking the oath of office were Mrs. Danny Howard, first vice president and projects chairman; Mrs. Robert Kane, recording secretary; Mrs. Mark Uram, treasurer and finance chairman; Mrs. James Woodfin, parliamentarian and immediate past president; Mrs. Pat Battle, public relations chairman; and Mrs. Dusty Rhodes, nominating chairman.

Attend the ceremonies were Mrs. Ames Kergosien, second vice president and Mrs. Edgar W. Santa Cruz Jr., corresponding secretary and social welfare chairman.

Outgoing president Mrs. Woodfin reported on the group's activities for the year and introduced life, associate, and sustaining JA members. Those recognized were Mrs. Joseph W. Gex and Mrs. Waldo Dearing, life members; Mrs. Henry A. Maggio, Mrs. James R. Shadoin, and Mrs. Sam Whitfield, sustaining members; Mrs. Travis Hensley, luncheon hostess and Mrs. John W. Hill, Mrs. Thomas W. Kidd, Mrs. Fred Wagner, and Mrs. William Frisbie, associate members.

New members, who recently completed their provisional training under Mrs. Gex included Mrs. Pat Battle, Mrs. Charles D'Agostino, Mrs. D.O. Trombley, Mrs. James Ginn, and Mrs. Robert McDonald.

Active members of the organization are Mrs. John Ginn, Mrs. Danny Howard, Mrs. F.F. Holland, Mrs. Robert Kane, Mrs. Paul Montjoy, Mrs. Ames Kergosien, Mrs. S. Wayne Murphy, Mrs. Dusty Rhodes, Mrs. John Rosetti, Mrs. Mark A. Uram, and Mrs. James B. Woodfin. Mrs. Leo W. Seal is a provisional member.

Three members of the Bay-Waveland chapter will attend the National Association of Junior Auxiliaries convention May 5-7 in Memphis, Tenn. Representing the group will be Mrs. Woodfin, Mrs. Rosetti and Mrs. Howard.

Tape players are theft targets

Following a brief respite, the number of thefts and break-ins have increased in the city, according to Bay St. Louis Police Chief Billy Carbonette.

During the week of April 21-28, Carbonette said three break-ins and two thefts occurred, with two tape players as the only stolen items.

The tape players were stolen from the owner's cars in separate incidents occurring April 27. One was stolen from Mrs. Anne Wood Jarrell's car which was parked at Bay Royale Apartments and the second was stolen from a car parked on N. Beach Blvd.

The break-ins took place at the home of Mrs. Eloise Bradbury, Gladstone St. and at the residence of E.H. Newell, 317 Thomas St., on April 24, and at the City-County Library April 27. In all three cases, entry was made through rear doors, but nothing was reported stolen.

Five minor accidents were reported, but there were no injuries and little damage resulted.

The first occurred April 22 involving Mrs. Lucille Dahn and Edward Reid. Mrs. Dahn's car was damaged slightly.

Two accidents happened April 24. The first involved Rene Tonquis and Bernard Tujoe and the second was between Billy M. Saunders and Rosemary Gibson. Mrs. Patricia Michelburg reported that a woman driving a white Plymouth, license number BGH 934 hit her car and did not stop. The accident occurred near Christ Episcopal Church on Beach Blvd. and police are continuing to investigate.

A two-car accident involving Harold Braggs and Mrs. Louise Brankston happened at the corner of Dunbar and Felicite Streets April 26. Neither driver was injured and no damage was reported.

Other calls handled by police include an investigation of vandalism at the Mississippi Monitor on U.S. Highway 90; the arrest of a male for indecent exposure on the beach at Carroll Ave. and Beach Blvd.; a fire started by children playing with fireworks near the pumping station on St. Charles St.; and the arrest of two Pinson, Ala. youths for possession of marijuana.

Mayors proclaim Goodwill week

Goodwill Industries of South Mississippi will host an appreciation party for handicapped persons Friday in Gulfport in conjunction with a general proclamation from mayors from Bay St. Louis to Biloxi fixing May 2-8 as National Goodwill Week.

Paul White of Bay St. Louis is president of the board of Goodwill Industries of South Mississippi.

The proclamation signed by the mayors recognizes Goodwill Industries as a non-profit group dedicated to the rehabilitation of the handicapped by providing them with jobs and job training and urges all citizens to continue to renew their support for the handicapped in their community.

City funding request doesn't get HUD approval

The city of Bay St. Louis has been advised that its preapplication for community development discretionary funds will not be approved during this fiscal year, according to Mayor Warren Carver.

In a letter to the city dated April 15, James S. Roland, area director for the Department of Housing and Urban Development, said the city's preapplication did not grade sufficiently high as to warrant funding compared with all other preapplications received by HUD from communities in the same

Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area. "While we regret the necessity to take such action," the letter states, "we would like to remind you that, at the proper time and under prescribed regulations, you may submit another preapplication next year in anticipation of obtaining funds from next year's allocation."

Roland said the city also had the option of submitting a Housing Assistance Plan that will be considered freestanding and would not prejudice the submission of any future applications for community funding.

Earlier the county was informed that its preapplication also did not warrant sufficiently high for funding. The county applied for the funds to cover improvements to low to middle income housing in the county's flood plain areas.

Title I advisory election announced

Elections will be conducted this week for membership on the Title I Advisory Council for the two public elementary schools in the Bay-Waveland School District. The election for North Bay Elementary will be held in the North Bay library May 11 at 7 p.m. and the election for Waveland Elementary will be held in the Waveland School library on May 12 at 7 p.m.

Parents of elementary students residing in the school district are eligible to participate in the elections. Only those parents having children participating in the Title I activities of a school are eligible to be elected and serve on the councils. Both public and private school parents may participate and serve under the above provisions.

The Title I Advisory Council assists with the planning, developing, and evaluating of the schools Title I project each year.

Anyone desiring further information, please call the principal of the public elementary school serving your area of residence.

Plans for subdivision near Waveland revealed

A spokesman for Sliman Enterprises Inc. of Leesville, La. confirmed Friday that plans are underway to build 120 homesites on 80 acres of land outside Waveland in conjunction with Coast Counties Corporation of Gulfport.

The spokesman said the first phase of development will take in 40 acres at a cost of approximately $400,000. He said homes in the new subdivision, which remains unnamed at this time, will be in the $50,000 to $60,000 price range.

The spokesman was unable to say when construction would begin on the homes, pointing out the principals must first gain approval from the Waveland Planning Board before proceeding. The exact location of the proposed development was not revealed.

Max Berns, manager of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, said principals in the joint effort include George J. Sliman representing Sliman Enterprises and Jody R. Johnson representing Coast Counties.

HNC summer school schedule announced

James P. O'Hara, principal at Hancock North Central High School, announced this week that registration for the summer school session will be held May 31 at 8 a.m.

He said the first semester begins May 31 and concludes July 2 and the second semester begins July 5 and concludes Aug. 6.

Each semester's tuition is payable in advance, he said, with the cost depending on the number of courses taken. He said two subjects are $100; remedial work is $50 with $25 payable per semester; and each half unit is $25 payable in advance.

Students may take a maximum of two subjects during the summer with each subject requiring two hours in the classroom daily.

Students taking two subjects will be at school from 8 a.m. - 1 p.m. daily, five days per week.

O'Hara said the following courses will be offered if the demand is great enough: English 9, English 10, English 11, English 12, U.S. History, Fundamental Math I, Fundamental Math II, and General Science.

Half unit courses include Civics, Mississippi History, American Government and Driver Education.

O'Hara reminds students who are unable to register May 31, that they may register in the principal's office prior to that time. He added that no student will be allowed to register after the third day of each semester.

Four million trees planted

The success of the 1976 Tree Planting Week in Mississippi is proof that Mississippians, young and old alike, are interested in the betterment of our forests and environment, said Billy T. Gaddis, chairman of the state Tree Planting and Forest Development Committee.

Gaddis said over 60 counties participated in the planting of over nearly four million trees during Tree Planting Week Feb. 9-13. The planting of the trees involved over 135,000 students from 343 schools.

Tree Planting Week is sponsored by local soil conservation districts with assistance from the Forestry Commission, the State Cooperative Extension Service, local wood industries and various other agencies, organizations and community groups interested in forest conservation.

Safety Commission settles bat dispute

WASHINGTON, D.C. - The U. S. Consumer Product Safety Commission announced this week approval of a settlement agreement between the Commission's Bureau of Compliance and respondents in the Aluminum Baseball Bats Enforcement Proceeding.

The agreement will dispose of enforcement proceeding begun in November, 1975 against Hillerich & Bradsby Co., Wilson Sporting Goods Co., a division of PepsiCo, Inc., Lannon Manufacturing Co., Reynolds Metals Company, Alcoa Sport Products Co., a subsidiary of Alcoa, and Eaton Corp., manufacturers and distributors of aluminum bats and rubber grip components of the bats.

The enforcement proceedings were brought because the Commission staff was of the opinion that an undetermined number of aluminum bats could present a substantial product hazard. The staff charged that the one piece rubber grips and knob could deteriorate and separate from the handle of the bat, causing the bat to be propelled during a swinging motion and having the potential for striking a person in near proximity to the batter.

The agreement is entered into for settlement purposes only, and the agreement and the order, notices and news releases do not constitute an admission by respondents or a finding by the Commission that law has been violated or that respondents have failed to perform or carry out any duty or obligation, or that the products contain a defect, fail to comply with any consumer product safety rule, create a risk of injury or present or constitute a "substantial product hazard" within the meaning of Section 15 of the Act.

The respondents in the subject enforcement proceedings have agreed to a program notifying consumers of the possible risk alleged in the Notices of Enforcement in the proceedings and of the opportunity to receive, free of charge, an update kit with which to mechanically affix a new knob to the bat.

These bats have been sold under the following trade names: "H&B-Louisville Slugger," "Reynolds," "A.J.D.," "Easton," "Adirondack," "Worth," "Sears," "Sunsucker," "Wilson," and "Rawlings."

Consumers who believe that they have one of the bats should contact the manufacturer by writing Ball Bat Update Program, P.O. Box 11317, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Consumers who require additional information may call the Consumer Product Safety Commission toll-free hotline 800-638-2666.

Consumer's notebook

BY PATRICIA COUCH

One of the classic get-rich-quick schemes has been revived, but the only people who are getting rich are the scheme's promoters. According to those promoters, the furry, little creatures known as chinchillas are fun to raise, and you can quadruple your initial investment in just four years. So far, those claims have proved false.

All chinchilla promoters use the same basic sales pitch. They travel around the country representing themselves as an "out-of-town" business and set themselves up in a local motel to interview prospective chinchilla breeders. The promoter carries a "pitch book" of newspaper clippings that show chinchilla costs selling for $80,000 and more. He emphasizes the ever-growing market for the valuable chinchilla pelts and claims that it is almost no trouble at all to raise the money-making rodents.

The chinchilla salesman may recommend the purchase of a minimum number of animals. The investment includes an offer from the salesman's firm to buy the live-offspring from the investor, prime the animal to maximum pelt value, "decease" the chinchilla and sell it to a coat manufacturer. The salesman stresses huge profits and promises very little muss, fuss or expense.

Experts in the chinchilla raising field say the little creatures are not easy to raise. The cost of feeding and housing chinchillas is more than minimal, and the mortality rate is from eight to 20 percent. They also say that the odor from chinchillas is not the most pleasant smell in the world, and the chinchillas' living quarters must be kept spotlessly clean in order to prevent the offensive odor.

The promoters often promise to buy back the baby chinchillas from the investor for as much as $60 each, but professional chinchilla raisers say that is very unlikely. The average price of all standard pelts is $12 to $13 after dressing, and less than one percent of all pelts marketed in a year brings a top price of $60.

The best thing a potential investor can do when confronted by a fast-talking chinchilla salesman is walk away quickly in the opposite direction.

USM college
accreditation

HATTIESBURG - The College of Business Administration at the University of Mississippi has been accredited by the American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business, which is the primary accrediting agency for schools of business. Announcement of the accreditation came from Atlanta, Ga., where Dr. Joseph A. Greene, dean of the USM College of Business Administration, was attending a convention of the accrediting group. USM now joins Ole Miss and Mississippi State as the only Mississippi universities whose schools of business have this particular accreditation.

University program for senior citizens meets wide interests

Mississippi State — Final plans for the state-wide University Days for Senior Citizens, May 10-12 at Mississippi State University have been announced by Dr. Ivan F. Miles of Mississippi State, chairman of the steering committee.

The only cost to participants will be transportation and meals, except for the banquet. Those staying overnight will have the use of a modern dormitory and should bring sheets, pillows, towels and soap. To further reduce costs, group transportation to MSU is being arranged in some localities.

Special funds for this program, the first of its kind in Mississippi, were made available through the Mississippi Council on Aging. The Mississippi State University Cooperative Extension Service has provided program coordination and support and serves as the University sponsoring organization. Other sponsors are the American Association of Retired Persons, National Association of Retired Federal Employees, National Retired Teachers Association and Mississippi's 10 Planning and Development Districts.

Registration will be in the lobby of the Union on Monday from 1:30 p.m. to 4 p.m. A skill fair in the registration area will include quilting, rag dolls, rug making, painting, crocheting, macrame, hunting horns, and silk flowers and egg shells.

Speakers at the four assemblies will be Mississippi Congressman David Bowen on Monday night; Dr. John K. Bettersworth, Academic Vice President of MSU, Tuesday morning; Horace Kerr, Executive Director, Mississippi Council on Aging, Tuesday night banquet, and Owen Cooper, Retired Executive President, Mississippi Chemical Corporation, Wednesday morning.

Dr. W. L. Giles, President of MSU, will welcome the visitors at the first assembly. Featured at all assemblies will be colorful and inspirational observances of the Bicentennial of the American Revolution.

To meet a wide variety of interests, each participant will select one of six workshop sessions Tuesday morning and another Wednesday morning. Subjects of these hour and a half sessions will be care of house plants, simple home repairs, care of lawn and gardens, consumer education, physical fitness and everyday safety. Instruction will be by known authorities.

The choice of activities Tuesday afternoon will include a bus tour of MSU, a walking tour featuring the new archaeology building and the Stennis Annex of the Library, games and a senior talent show.

All activities except the tours will be in the MSU Union.

"The program has been designed for you to select what interests you and set your own pace. It will not be necessary to do a lot of walking," Dr. Miles added.

Pearl River sets summer registration

Pearl River College will offer numerous academic as well as vocational courses during the two summer school sessions planned here at the Poplarville campus. Registration for the first session begins Monday, May 31, at 8 a.m. in the Science Building.

Nineteen academic and an equal number of vo-tech classes are scheduled for the summer sessions. Other courses will be offered if there is enough of a demand.

The first five-week session will begin with registration on Monday, May 31, running through Friday, July 2. A three day weekend break for the Fourth of July will put the second five weeks beginning on Tuesday, July 6, going through August 6.

Most of the academic courses will cost $50 ($15 per semester hour and $5 matriculation fee). Some of the science courses are rated as four hour classes. However, most of the classes will count as three hours of academic credit. Room and board per five week term is $75.

Tuition for vocational courses is $90 per 10 week session. Shop fee for all vocational courses except welding is $45. The welding shop fee is $90. Technical tuition and matriculation for each semester hour of credit is $7.50 plus the $5 matriculation charge.

All regular classes meet from 7:30 a.m. until 9:50 a.m. and from 10:00 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. Laboratory work will be scheduled for the afternoons.

Dredging plan revealed for harbor

WASHINGTON, D.C. Plans for a 40-foot depth in the Gulfport Harbor have been tentatively approved by the U.S. Army's Corps of Engineers, according to Rep. Trent Lott (R-Miss.).

Lott said he has learned that the selection and a first draft report have been submitted to the Corps' division office for further review. A final public hearing in Gulfport has been scheduled for 7 p.m., June 3, at the Mississippi Power Company Building, where the plan will be revealed and discussed.

"I'm very pleased with this latest development," Lott said. "This has been in the works for a long time and it brings us another step closer to a deeper harbor for Gulfport so that bigger ships will be able to enter and leave the port. Hopefully, this will be the last major hurdle before final action is taken."

The selected plan provides a 40-foot project depth and includes spreading dredged material in a thin layer on the bottom of the Sound, as well as depositing it on Ship Island and in an EPA-approved area in deep water in the Gulf.

Stone supervisors oppose CZM

The Stone County Board of Supervisors adopted a resolution this week opposing the county's inclusion in the Marine Resources Council's coastal zone management alliance.

Supervisors based their action on the fact that there are no coastal wetlands in Stone County and inclusion of any part of the county in the alliance does not meet state or federal guidelines for the coastal zone management program.

Diamond wins

Doris Diamond was Class A winner of the Crier's Tournament held Thursday by the Diamondhead Women's Golf Association.

Doris Wattigney was runner-up in the class. In Class B, Beverly Nuccio won the event with Gloria Forstall as runner-up.

Lucas to deliver PRC commencement

The largest class in the history of Pearl River College will graduate in formal exercises here Sunday, May 2 at 6 p.m.

Three hundred and forty seven students are candidates for graduation and will be receiving associate degrees and certificates of proficiency during the evening ceremonies in the air-conditioned PRC Coliseum.

"This is the largest graduating class ever here at Pearl River," Enoch Seal, dean of instruction said. The 347 total is 23 students more than the previous number last year, the previous all time high.

The 1976 graduating class is up 99 students over the 1973 class of 248 students, and is more than three times as large as the PRC graduating class of 1956. "Past enrollment figures show 103 students graduated in 1956; 123 in 1962; 191 in 1967; 259 in 1972; 248 in 1973; 291 in 1974, and 324 last year.

Serving as honor graduate this year is Deborah Gale Pritchard, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Prentiss Pritchard of Columbia. She is the only student to have a perfect 4.0 academic average.

Dr. Aubrey K. Lucas, president of the University of Southern Mississippi, will deliver the commencement address. He was appointed president of USM in July 1975. From 1971 to 1975 he was president of Delta State University.

President Lucas graduated from State Line High School in 1952. He later received his B.S. and M.A. degrees from the University of Southern Mississippi. In 1966 Lucas earned his PhD from Florida State University, with emphasis in the administration of higher education.

Dr. Lucas is a member and honoree of several state and national fraternities and is an active member in other state and local civic organizations. He is also listed in numerous Who's Who books across the nation.

Graduation exercises begin at 6 p.m., however, friends and relatives of the graduates are invited to an open house in Marion Hall from 4:30 - 5:30 p.m.

TERRITORIAL DAYS - The Mississippi Territory, a wide, narrow strip running from the Mississippi River to Georgia, was created April 7, 1798. The capital of the territory was Natchez, a thriving town of merchants, bankers, attorneys, teachers, planters, doctors, mechanics and craftsmen. The second program in Mississippi ETV's new history series, "Mississippi Time Was," will cover the territorial days of Mississippi. The program will be aired at 6:30 p.m., May 11, and will be repeated at 7:30 p.m., May 13, and at 12:30 p.m., May 15.

ETV explores Mississippi

The second program in Mississippi ETV's new history series will cover the territorial days of the state from 1798 until the early 1800's when aspirations of statehood swept the land. "Territorial Days" can be seen at 6:30 p.m., Tuesday, May 11, on the Mississippi Educational Television Network, channel 19, Biloxi. The program will be repeated at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, May 13, and 12:30 p.m., Saturday, May 15.

The program begins with the arrival in Natchez of the first territorial governor, Winthrop Sargent, in August 1798.

Sargent inherited a territory marked by dissension. The people had split roughly into two groups, the "city" people and the "country" people. The city people were merchants and bankers who closely resembled, politically, the Federalist party.

The second group was made of farmers, land-owners and mechanics who felt themselves aligned with Thomas Jefferson's Republican party.

Sargent was not popular with the Republicans in Natchez. They were critical of the set of laws he issued and of the judges he appointed whom they accused of making the laws themselves instead of adopting them from the already established states.

The Republicans managed to gain control of the newly established assembly and legislative council, and impeachment of Sargent was imminent. Thomas Jefferson replaced Sargent with a young 26-year-old Tennesseean named W.C.C. Claiborne.

Jorgensen-Veglia

Marlene Janette Veglia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August N. Rauxet, Bay St. Louis, became the bride of Kenneth John Jorgensen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Jorgensen of Evansville, Ind., during an evening ceremony March 20.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Justice of the Peace William Frisbie at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Almond of Bay St. Louis.

The bride wore a floor-length beige gown appliqued with white flowers trimmed in green leaves. She carried a bouquet of lavender daisies and white carnations.

Judy Stant of Bay St. Louis served as maid of honor wearing a green dotted-swiss gown. She carried a bouquet of yellow daisies.

Best man was Butch Miller of Bay St. Louis.

The couple is now at home at Bay St. Louis following their honeymoon trip to New Orleans, La.

The bride is employed as a practical nurse at Miramar Nursing Home in Pass Christian and the groom is employed at Ingalls Shipyard.

MEET BENJAMIN - Benjamin is a healthy, normal baby whose first six months of life provide the backbone of a charming and revealing "Nova" program about early child development. The program will be rebroadcast at 1 p.m., Saturday, May 15.

What do babies know?

What do babies know? Probably a lot more than adults think they do, according to the next program in ETV's "Nova" series.

"Nova" introduces viewers to Benjamin, a healthy, normal newborn baby, at 7 p.m., Sunday, May 9, on the Mississippi Educational Television Network, channel 19, Biloxi.

"Benjamin" will be rebroadcast at 1 p.m., Saturday, May 15.

Benjamin demonstrates that many of the things that babies do can have remarkable similarities to the way adults behave. With the use of slow motion film, "Nova" shows that babies are tuned in to human speech from birth and that the rhythm of adults speaking around them can be synchronized to their body movements. Also, what seem like a baby's random arm wavings are actually attempts at grasping.

Try bending your attitudes

By DR. WHITT N. SCHULTZ
KENILWORTH, ILLINOIS

Want some excellent management advice?

Here it is - in nine simple words:

"IF YOU CAN'T CHANGE FACTS, TRY BENDING YOUR ATTITUDES!"

I recently came across this good and highly workable advice, thanks to an alert reader of EDM who brought it to my attention.

This great "mini-maxim" is credited to writer Arthur Gordon, who wrote about it in the Christian Herald.

Here's how Mr. Gordon explains his highly useful maxim:

"Without doubt, the bleakest period of my life so far was with the 8th Air Force in England. Our bomber bases, hacked out of the sodden English countryside, were seas of mud. On the ground, people were cold, miserable, homesick. In the air, people were getting shot. Replacements were few, morale was low.

"But there was one sergeant - a crew chief - who was always cheerful, always good-humored, always smiling. I watched him, day in, day out, in a freezing rain, struggle to salvage a Fortress that had skidded off the runway into an apparently bottomless mire. He was whistling like a lark. 'Sergeant,' I said to him sourly, 'how can you whistle in a mess like this?'

"He gave me a mud-caked grin. 'Lieutenant,' he said, 'when the facts won't budge, you have to bend your attitudes to fit them, that's all.'

"Check it for yourself. You'll see that, faced with a given set of problems, one man may tackle them with intelligence, grace and courage; another may react with resentment and bitterness; a third may run away altogether.

"In any life, facts tend to remain unyielding. 'But attitudes are a matter of choice - and that choice is largely up to you.'

How correct Mr. Gordon is! In my 25 years of executive management experience, I find that the single, most important element in an employee's life style is his (or her) attitude.

In the big, Bell Telephone System, where I worked in management for some 12 productive and learning years with the System's over 750,000 employees, we often used the word "viewpoint."

That is, when hiring a new employee, or when considering an individual for a promotion, we were vitally interested in his "viewpoint - his way of looking at things, at people, and at situations."

"What is his real attitude towards life judging from his daily behavior pattern?" we would ask.

I'm certain EDM readers meet individuals who face a given set of problems - (or "challenges," or "opportunities" - it's all in your attitude on how you view things)...in one of these three ways:

...with intelligence, grace and courage.

...with resentment and bitterness.

...with fear - and run away from the situation.

It's so true: In any life, facts tend to remain unyielding.

But attitudes are a matter of choice.

And - that choice is largely up to us -

Recently I saw one of the neighbor children fall down some stairs.

I ran over to him. Picked him up, brushed off his coat...and asked:

"Are you hurt, Bill?"

"No," the youngster responded, "you see, Dr. Schultz, I was coming down any way!"

Now, there's an optimist!

And that's the kind of an individual management wants and needs today - one who can quickly, creatively and effectively bend his attitudes to fit facts as they are dug for.

I don't know how Columbus felt when he discovered America, but I know how elated I felt when I discovered Ameripass!

On April 14 and for the small sum of $125 I bought valid coupons for 15 days transportation between all points in the United States good interchangeably on Greyhound-Trailway lines.

Not only was Mr. Little patient, he was cooperative, long suffering and downright helpful. He gave up his lunch hour to pour over time tables making suggestions as to best times for departures and arrivals with a view to arriving in cities at safe daylight hours. He saved me additional money by pointing out a relatively new "Slumber Rest" service where cooperating motels rated from "Adequate to AAA" give special rates with no advance reservation required to Ameripass Customers. This represents a savings of around 20 percent below normal rates.

Based on double occupancy room rate prices ranged from around $16 per night up to $28.30 on the motels I used during this trip.

Another substantial savings came in the form of taxi fares. Since these motels are located within two to ten blocks from the bus station and in the downtown areas taxi fares ran anywhere from under $1 to a maximum of $4.

When board-attorney Sam Favre interrupted to render his opinion that this did not mean that justices could charge the county for every single charge on a single ticket not involving more than one court hearing, Dobson protested "you cannot combine cases on the docket."

Favre then produced a letter from R. Hugo Newcomb Sr., assistant attorney general, written April 22 and directing himself to a question about the legality of the multiple charges. The opinion was requested by beat five justice William Frisbie who has been waging a personal campaign to stop what he insists is illegal fee collecting by some justices.

In his opinion read to the board, Newcomb stated, "We have received your letter dated March 19 in which you refer to citations issued by the Mississippi Highway Patrol containing more than one violation, such as a speeding violation and an expired driver's license and, perhaps, a motor vehicle inspection sticker violation, all on one citation. You ask if it is permissible, by law, to list these different violations as separate cases and to charge the county $18 for three separate cases, or if it would be properly handled by charging it as one case with three charges and thus charge the county $6."

"Inasmuch as this is one citation, involving one court hearing, you would be eligible only for one $6 fee under provisions of Section 25-7-25(f),

Crescent city fisherman killed on Bay bridge

An elderly New Orleans man was fatally injured on the Harrison County side of the Bay of St. Louis bridge Wednesday morning when he apparently stepped in front of an oncoming car.

Richard A. Pellerin, 78, 6943 Vicksburg St., was pronounced dead on arrival at Hancock General Hospital after he was struck by a 1973 Mercury station wagon driven by Mrs. Susan Tabony of Covington, La. The accident happened at 11:11 a.m.

A witness at the scene said Mrs. Tabony remarked that she was on her way to visit relatives in Gulfport when the accident occurred. "There was no way he could have made it across," she said.

Mrs. Tabony was driving east, a Mississippi Highway Patrol spokesman said, but he could not say if Pellerin was walking north or south on the highway. Motorists involved in the ensuing traffic tie-up appeared concerned at the time elapse before the arrival of Mobile Medic. The ambulance service supervisor said it took 11 minutes from the time the dispatcher received the call, but by-standers were of the opinion that 30 minutes passed before the ambulance arrived.

Pellerin was the 24th traffic fatality in Harrison County since Jan. 1, according to a patrol spokesman. He said no charges have been filed against Mrs. Tabony.

Travel on a budget

You can still see America on a little

Columbus Joe Pilet, who has just returned from a do-it-yourself See America tour, filed this first story in a three-part special to the Echo. The travel tips within were gathered along the trail which carried our writer from Bay

I don't know how Columbus felt when he discovered America, but I know how elated I felt when I discovered Ameripass!
On April 14 and for the small sum of $125 I bought valid coupons for 15 days transportation between all points in the United States good interchangeably on Greyhound-Trailway lines.
"If you don't have a good time it's your own fault," declared William L. Little Sr. who conducts the

Not only was Mr. Little patient, he was cooperative, long suffering and downright helpful. He gave up his lunch hour to pour over time tables making suggestions as to best times for departures and arrivals with a view to arriving in cities at safe daylight hours. He saved me additional money by pointing out a relatively new "Slumber Rest" service where cooperating motels rated from "Adequate to AAA" give special rates with no advance reservation required to Ameripass Customers. This represents a savings of around 20 percent below normal rates.

Based on double occupancy room rate prices ranged from around $16 per night up to $28.30 on the motels I used during this trip.
Another substantial savings came in the form of taxi fares. Since these motels are located within two to ten blocks from the bus station and in the downtown areas taxi fares ran anywhere from under $1 to a maximum of $4.

'Well, where/what is it?'

BIRTHDAY
BY DARNEL HOIT

Two hundred years is a long long time,
Through bloody hell and greasy grime
Thirteen stars now 37 more bold,
It was the battle of Lexington
I was told.

The midnight ride of Paul Revere,
All of the people saying do not fear
We are the winner and always to be,
This land is our country of Liberty.

The wars, the depressions and the end of your life
Are all part of America
The human strife.

America, America God shed
His grace on thee,
And crowned thy good,
with brotherhood
From sea to shining sea.

It takes the "Where" to win
as well as the "What"

The difficulty factor of "eunch!" did the trick, offered sufficient challenge to the sporting and resulted in a swamp of mail being registered by our chief "mail stamper-inner." Our chief "contest mail letter-opener" was busy on other stuff so we impressed a deputy into submitting to blindfold. She was a little hesitant (don't know why), but eventually performed the dipping into the box and pulling out a plum routine. Mrs. Ray McLain of 434 State, Bay St. Louis, had first correct entry opened. Answer, as many guessed was Interstate Highway 10 overpass at State Highway 603. Our special acknowledgements go to the entry containing a complete breakdown of each clue. As others in this office would say, "Neat-o!" Contest 15 is off and running. First mail to be opened for this will be after all letters worked over on Thursday, May 6, 1976. Good Luck!

Solution
Contest No. 14

Correct solution to Contest No. 14 is the bridge support at Interstate 10 on State Highway 603.

Clue No. 1

Many have thought
It's not what it is
And though many have passed through its doors,
Much time and change
Have now wrought their thing
And peace may soon come to its floors.

Rules

- "Well, where-what is it?" is designed to be fun contest only, although the first correct answer opened by the Weekly Supplement editor will receive two complimentary passes to the Star Theatre.
- Entries should be addressed to: Contest No. 15 Sunday Echoes, Sea Coast Echo, 112 South 2nd Street, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi 39520. Entries received each week will be held until noon on the Thursday preceding publication of that weekend's Sunday Echoes.
- Employees of the Sea Coast Echo or their families are ineligible. All entrants must be over 18 years old.
- Names of winners will be published in subsequent issues.
- Additional clues will be published each week until the contest is won. A full picture of the contest's location, or identification, will be published along with the winner's name.

When board attorney Sam Favre interrupted to render his opinion that this did not mean that justices could charge the county for every single charge on a single ticket not involving more than one court hearing, Dobson protested "you cannot combine cases on the docket."

Favre then produced a letter from R. Hugo Newcomb Sr., assistant attorney general, written April 22 and directing himself to a question about the legality of the multiple charges. The opinion was requested by beat five justice William Frisbie who has been waging a personal campaign to stop what he insists is illegal fee collecting by some justices.

In his opinion read to the board, Newcomb stated, "We have received your letter dated March 19 in which you refer to citations issued by the Mississippi Highway Patrol containing more than one violation, such as a speeding violation and an expired driver's license and, perhaps, a motor vehicle inspection sticker violation, all on one citation. You ask if it is permissible, by law, to list these different violations as separate cases and to charge the county $18 for three separate cases, or if it would be properly handled by charging it as one case with three charges and thus charge the county $6."

"Inasmuch as this is one citation, involving one court hearing, you would be eligible only for one $6 fee under provisions of Section 25-7-25(f),

Comfort given

Mrs. Richard Pellerin is comforted by Father William Kelly and an unidentified woman Wednesday morning after her husband was fatally struck by a eastbound car on the Bay St. Louis bridge where the couple was fishing.

U.S. Highway 90 where he was struck by an oncoming car.

Apparently, the victim stepped into the path of the vehicle while fishing from the bridge.

Crescent city fisherman killed on Bay bridge

An elderly New Orleans man was fatally injured on the Harrison County side of the Bay of St. Louis bridge Wednesday morning when he apparently stepped in front of an oncoming car.

Richard A. Pellerin, 70, 6943 Vicksburg St., was pronounced dead on arrival at Hancock General Hospital after he was struck by a 1973 Mercury station wagon driven by Mrs. Susan Tabony of Covington, La. The accident happened at 11:11 a.m.

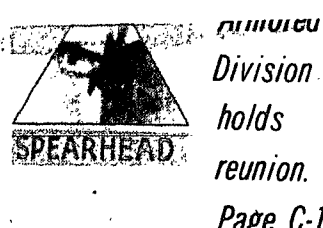

A witness at the scene said Mrs. Tabony remarked that she was on her way to visit relatives in Gulfport when the accident occurred. "There was no way he could have made it across," she said.

Mrs. Tabony was driving east, a Mississippi Highway Patrol spokesman said, but he could not say if Pellerin was walking north or south on the highway.

Motorists involved in the ensuing traffic tie-up appeared concerned at the time elapse before the arrival of Mobile Medic. The ambulance service supervisor said it took 11 minutes from the time the dispatcher received the call, but by-standers were of the opinion that 30 minutes passed before the ambulance arrived.

Pellerin was the 25th traffic fatality in Harrison County since Jan. 1, according to a patrol spokesman. He said no charges have been filed against Mrs. Tabony.

The Gorgonian Trip

It came floating lightly into our atmosphere. I was alone, sitting beside a huge oak tree, right next to Boggy Creek. I couldn't see exactly what it was because of the glowing red light surrounding it. For a while, I thought that it might be a falling star or something. It landed behind a large bush, which hid it from sight. My thoughts of it being a falling star vanished, because it wasn't falling. It was flying.

I couldn't quite make up my mind what to do. Should I turn away and run, or should I investigate? The nearest house to Boggy Creek was nearly three miles away. It shouldn't hurt to examine - or would it?

I gradually moved over to the bush from the spot in which I had been standing. The closer I walked to the bush, the faster and harder my heart would pound.

When I arrived not more than five feet from the bush, I heard an unearthly sound. Its bright glow, had become a silent, dim light.

After I got up the nerve to approach the bush, I dragged myself over to it. I peeked through it to find out what I had seen. My eyes landed upon a huge, shiny, metal object.

Questions started flowing through my head. What is it? Where did it come from? Should I go near it? Should I turn away? Is it harmful?

I can't explain what it was that made me do it. All I know, is that I was being pulled out into the open. Then, I guess it was just fright that made me just stand there, because before I realized what was happening, I saw a part of this contraption moving. It was a tiny door and a beautiful silver-looking creature appeared. I didn't know whether it was friendly or unkind. I mostly just spoke out of fright.

"Hi," I said in a very low voice. "Hi," it replied. "I am a Gorgonian, from the planet Gorg. Who are you and where am I?"

I felt awfully silly talking to an outer space creature, but I answered it back anyway. "I'm a human and this is the planet Earth."

"It's nice," quoted the Gorgonian, but my planet is nicer. Please forgive me. I do not mean to be bragging, but you see, we do not have pollution on our planet. As a matter of fact, we don't have anything harmful on our planet. We say that our planet is gorgeous. We got our name from the first four letters of the word gorgeous."

"That's interesting, but did you come by yourself?" I questioned, trying to change the subject.

"Yes, I did come by myself. Everyone else thought that I would crash, or something terrible would happen to me. Could you... I mean would you come back to Gorg with me? Just for five or six years? I want to prove to my people that I found life on another planet. Please come. They'll never believe me if you don't."

"Five or six years? Oh no! I'm afraid that that would be too long."

"You don't understand. I forgot to explain. You see, as it shows on my radiovision, one minute here on earth, is one year on Gorg. Please won't you come with me? I'll have you back here in five minutes."

"Well, O.K. But just for five minutes though."

"Very well then, but you must promise me one thing."

"What is it?"

"You have to keep this trip a secret. For, if it ever got out that there is life on our planet, we're sure your people would invade Gorg. My people wouldn't let your people on our planet because as I told you earlier, our planet is clean and unharmed. They would be afraid that your people would destroy it."

"I won't tell. I promise I won't."

"O.K. then, off we go."

It all happened so fast that I don't think I could describe all of the beautiful things I saw. I have to admit, it was an extraordinarily beautiful planet.

When we arrived back on earth, we felt bad about not seeing each other again.

"What is your name? After all this time, I still don't know your name."

"It's Margie Cullers, but just call me Marge. Uh-What's your name?"

"Koing. We don't have two names. We just have one and they are all different."

"Well, Koing, do you think you'll ever be back?"

"No. I'm afraid that I have used up almost all of my fuel. I think I'll have just enough to get back home. It takes an awfully long time to gather up all of the fuel I need, because fuel is still scarce on our planet, just as it has been for a long long time."

"Well, I'm going to miss you. Goodbye Koing."

"I'm going to miss you too, but please, remember, don't tell anyone."

"O.K. I won't. I promise."

"I have to leave now. Goodbye Marge."

When the small door closed, a soft, silent tear slowly trickled down my cheek. As the saucer-shaped vehicle flew out of sight, a lonely feeling filled my body as if I had been deserted. Even though, on several occasions I was tempted, I knew, that as long as I live, I'd never tell another soul about what happened this very day.

Dreaming again

by Tina Ladner

When things go wrong,
And I almost cry,
I stop and think,
Of times gone by.

When I am mad,
Frustrated and uneasy,
I try to remember,
To relax, take it easy.

When I'm alone,
I sit and imagine,
The wonders of people,
And all their passion.

And when I lay at night,
And yearn for a friend,
The sound of nothing,
Starts me dreaming again.

I am an ant

"Hello there! I am an ant, as you can see by the picture. A lot of children, I'm sure, wonder just exactly why an ant is put on earth."

"Well, I'll tell you, I'm a very fascinating creature. Being small is quite an advantage. You see, I can squeeze into the tiniest things imaginable! I can also listen for juicy bits of information, not meant for many people. Since I'm so small, people don't see me and just go on gossiping."

"The greatest advantage is, that I live right across from the city park. Families around here, just love to go on picnics."

"Usually, after the family has eaten, they like to go fly kites, or take nice long walks. When this occurs, it's my turn to move in and check out the leftovers!"

"Even when everyone comes back, I can stay and keep enjoying getting fat! Although, it's mighty risky, I'll be darn sure not to leave all that yummy food!"

"There's one disadvantage to being an ant. Everytime it rains, my home gets washed away. That means it's time to hunt for some more rough, sturdy sand."

"First, even before my hunt, I have to dig deep into the ground. Most people think that's my home, but it's my secret tunnel!"

I keep all my valuable treasures hidden down deep. Such as, a beautiful photo album of all of my great aunts and uncles. And believe me, I have lots of them. Plus, my most handsome and most special tuxedo, for our gigantic family reunions!

"The sand that you see piled high around the tunnel, is really my home. It consists of a cozy kitchen, a spacious living room and a wide cupboard. The kitchen just has an oven, sink, and table and chair. The living room is just like any other one. Just that it is approximately 2 inches wide and 1 inch high! The cupboard is used to store my food."

"I'm sure many people won't want to be an ant."

"All I know is that I wouldn't change from an ant for anything in the world!"
